About the Campus

University of Mumbai, Thane Sub Campus is an institute that stands on the foundation of students distinct from the crowd, learning to groom their skills and being trained to their highest potential to meet the requirements of the dynamic corporate world. We offer two Five-year Integrated Courses – Bachelors in Management Studies - Masters in Business Administration (BMS-MBA) and Bachelors in Business Administration- Legum Baccalaureus (BBA-LLB (Hons.)).

The campus commenced in the year 2014 intending to give both the courses a discrete approach and nurture students resourcefully, preparing them for the competitive industrial environment. It is spread across 6 acres of land consisting of amenities like tech-savvy classrooms, library, computer centre and a digital seminar hall etc. The syllabus is designed such that it makes the study environment on this campus exclusive and versatile.

The structure of the BMS-MBA program allows students to opt for Major and Minor specialization (Finance, Marketing, Human Resources and International Business) in their first year of MBA itself, that helps them adapt to their subjects proficiently. Apart from the conventional advances of the courses, we go beyond the theoretical study of subjects, including Presentation Skills, Disaster Management, Business ethics, Corporate Leadership, Emotional Intelligence, Business Etiquette, Public Relations in the course structure.

The BBA-LLB (H) is a five-year integrated course which is a combination of Management and Law. It is a unique course which is designed as per the current market requirements. Students study the syllabus of management as well as law. For higher studies students have both options that is, MBA and LL.M. It gives complete grooming to the students' potential and offers multidisciplinary knowledge.

The in-house faculty and guest faculty – researchers, academicians and industry practitioners who are specialized in their respective fields – conduct lectures and encourage interactive sessions among students.

Students on our campus have interned with various established firms and companies, acquiring practical knowledge of their corresponding courses and represented the University in diverse events like Model United Nations, Youth festivals, various cultural and sport events, moot courts etc., displaying their skills outside the purview of mere academics.

During the year 2020-21 we took up the challenge of working in an online environment in way that learning culture and growth of students of campus was not affected by the events of the outside world. We can proudly say that rather than an adverse effect on educational practices due to the pandemic, we came out stronger and adapted to new practices for the changing times.

We made the most of the options presented by technology and I daresay, have closed on a high note approaching the end of this academic year. Academic session, extracurricular and co-curricular activities have happened with a strong enthusiasm at all levels at the campus. Academic Update for the Year

In the most recent year, 2020-21, like the rest of the world, things came to a standstill momentarily due to the uncertainties posed by the pandemic. And like the rest of the world the campus also took teaching to the online mode. Though the online environment felt limiting in the beginning, all faculty and students soon upskilled themselves to adapt to this environment.

The nature of innovation and creativity in teaching though different from the physical classroom pedagogy, definitely does present a lot of options in the online mode. Different tools and techniques were used by the faculty to make teaching effective and students also contributed in their own unique ways to make classes effective and fun to attend.

Different platforms, plugins and innovations were used in classes. Different faculty used online conferencing tools including Zoom, Google Meet, Microsoft Teams and Webex to conduct the online classes. The classes were also recorded and available for students for viewing later in some cases.

As far as class activities are concerned, various innovations were used. A few instances are highlighted below.

a. Use of Digital Whiteboards

In the subject Emotional Intelligence, the students used Whiteboards to express and draw their ideas in Perception Building exercise. Digital Whiteboards were extensively used in subjects like Business Mathematics to solve sums in the classroom like on a physical blackboard instead of using the PPT format which is less effective. The use of physical devices like touchscreen laptops and stylus helped.

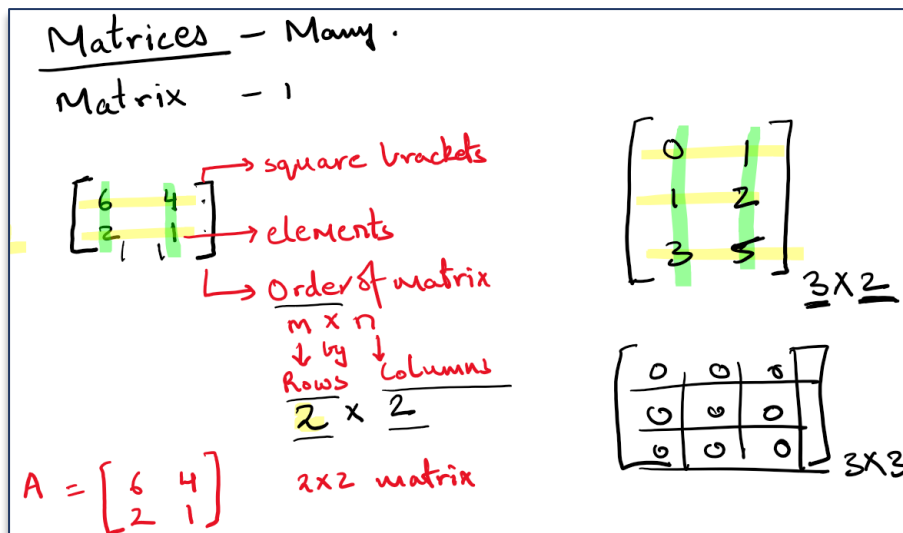

Image 1: Use of whiteboard for a Business Mathematics class (BMS-MBA Semester 1)

b. Online tools like Kahoot, Google Forms

In taking tests and quizzes in class there is always a possibility of monitoring how students are taking the test and using resources. Due to the lack of physical presence and to make testing more fun, multi-participant quizzes in real time with scoring capabilities by using tools such as Kahoot, Google forms were used for several subjects to test understanding of topics and revision.

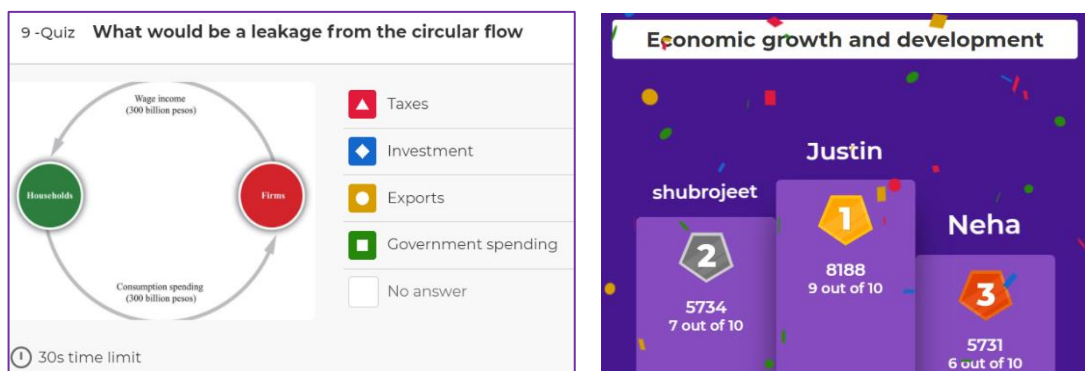

Image 2: Use of real time online MCQ quiz with results declared simultaneously in a Business Environment class (BMS-MBA Semester 3)

c. Breakout Rooms

The use of group activity to promote thinking and self-learning has become very essential. Outside the physical classroom this became a challenge. However with easy access to advancements in technology, faculty have explored and used different methods. Even with the lack of an institutional account for professional video conferencing tools that the faculty did not get access too, plugins for breakout rooms were used in subjects like Entrepreneurship and Indian Financial systems to promote multilateral interaction between participants rather than the linear communication between faculty and students. This helped increase interaction among students to promote learning as well as provide them an opportunity to speak to their classmates, something that they have missed terribly over the past one year.

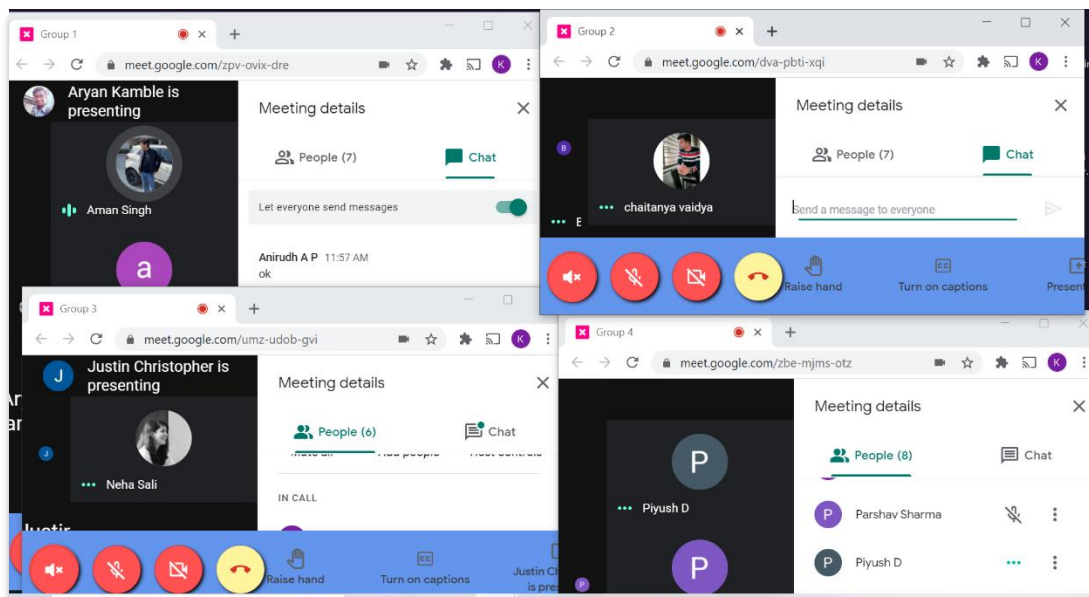

Image 3: 4 Breakout Rooms being used for group activity in an Indian Financial Systems class (BMS-MBA Semester 4)

d. Excel and PowerPoint

While these Microsoft tools have been very commonly used in the physical classroom setting, in the online classes seamless integration of these tools became possible. Students could not only see the excel and PowerPoint used by faculty, but also present their own screens in an instant to clear any doubts. Power point presentations are used in almost all subjects whereas Excel was used in subjects like Business Taxation to understand tax filing, subjects related to finance and accounts to prepare and analyse financial statements and undertake valuations.

e. Other Multimedia Tools and Platforms

Platforms like Youtube, and audio-visual clips were used more than ever in classes. Subjects like Integrated Marketing Communications relied heavily on such tools. For instance, students were asked to analyse and write reports and engage in classroom discussion on Youtube advertisements for different brands and companies. Interviews in subjects like Business Etiquettes that are typically conducted face-to-face were undertaken through a blend of introductions recorded beforehand by students followed by live online interviews taken by a faculty panel

Conduct of Exams

We at the University of Mumbai, Thane sub campus took steps to provide and complete the Academic course work by using various online platforms. However, the biggest challenge was to conduct Academic Examinations as physical presence due to Pandemic was not allowed. We came up with an innovative but easy way to conduct the examinations. We used the online Google Forms platform to conduct the examination, as per the said instructions and paper pattern approved by the University of Mumbai. During the whole process of the online examination conducted, the Exam Committee with the help of the Information Technology Team and the Faculty, took care of all provisions and safeguards to avoid any kind of malpractices during the examinations and enable smooth conduct of exams for students from wherever they were located.

The following safeguards were taken:

- Secured way of sending the Question paper and answer sheet only through registered email address with the Campus.
- The details of each student were cross verified; for the updated email address and other details of examinations by the administrative, IT and faculty members.
