Dear aspirants,

In today's rapid pace of change and increasing complexities at work, home, school, college individuals are expected to be alert, aware, active and productive all the time. Juggling different roles and responsibilities at home, work, school, college takes a toll on life if challenges, responsibilities and expectations are not fulfilled in desired manner.

There has been a global recognition and acceptance for importance of life skills education by leading international organizations like WHO and UNICEF. NEP 2020 has highlighted inclusion of life skills in school education. UGC (2019) has also recognised importance of life skills for graduates for making graduates employable and successful in life. For the same UGC has drafted curriculum for life skills (Jeevan Kaushal) at the level of higher education to develop different skills such as communication skills, professional skills, leadership and management skills etc.

Department of Education, University of Mumbai is one of the earliest departments with a tradition of purpose-driven and meaningful education is opening an opportunity to young graduates, parents, school teachers, principals, corporate sector employees to become part of the institution by enrolling for upcoming certificate course in life skills education.
